Why a programmer?

While I used to program, I find a more mature version of myself. I find it to be a source of peace of mind and help me to deal with life's tribulations. As a result, it turns out to be my passion.

About me

As a Support Engineer for Amazon, I have a deep passion for programming. So, I am looking for more opportunities in my passion

Experience

Experience on Workplace

2020- present	Amazon
	Support engineer
	amazon music team

Experience on personal work

I am responsible for the backend work for two of my friends' portfolios. It was not a difficult task, but we are planning to add a search bar to enhance the user experience.

Experience on freelance

Phoenix technology - website

It is a complete e-commerce website. I developed the entire website, including the frontend. It was built as a typical website the first time. The website was again updated as an e-commerce website and developed using Angular. It took me months to complete the project, where I learned more and gained a lot of experience.

Sree sakthi engineering college

It is an android application developed for Sree Shakthi Engineering College, and this is the first project I worked on. An appealing project that took a long time, about six months, and finally released in the Play Store.

Experience on workshop

Sri Krishna Adithya College of Arts and Science

It was the first experience in a workshop. This was an excellent experience for managing the students and teaching them the basics of cloud computing.

Kongu Engineering College

I took the workshop for students at Kongu Engineering College for the second time. As a result, I found myself more adept at teaching students. Five days of workshops were dedicated to Python.
